Company Policy

The company uses Python for backend development.

The engineering team uses FastAPI to build REST APIs.

Company documents are stored securely.

Employees should contact the IT team for technical support.

The company uses automated testing to improve software quality.